YOUR RESPONSIBILITY

Self-storage complexes generally do not provide insurance and disclaim liability for damage or loss to your stored property. If you want to insure your property against loss due to the above perils, you must provide your own insurance.

Consider what it would cost to repurchase the goods you are storing. Just a few major items may have a substantial value. Self Storage Insurance can protect your property and your peace of mind. And, you purchase only the amount of insurance you need for as long as you need it.

To be covered against loss or damage, be certain to select a sufficient amount of insurance to cover the cost of your goods.

* Subject to the limitations in the Product Disclosure Statement and Policy wording.
